

Euan and Andrew got caught in a strong rip current at a beach. They want to share their story to help others.

Andrew and Euan got stuck while surfing. They stayed calm, floated on their backs, and saved energy, just like their dad said.

Andrew reached the rocks safely. Euan struggled. People called for help. The RNLI lifeboat rescued Euan.

Rip currents at Longsands Beach are dangerous. Don't swim against them. Swim to the side instead.

The brothers want to help the RNLI. They visited the lifeboat station to thank their rescuers but haven't gone back to the sea yet.