

New English Rules for Migrants

New rules in January 2026 mean some people need better English to get certain work visas in the UK.

People must pass an English test to work and live in the UK. Some think the rules are too hard and unfair.

The UK wants fewer people moving in and wants them to speak English well to help them find jobs and join the community.